

Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to introduce our company and service.

We are a B2B company with an Exhibition Hall/Convention centre within Second Life.

What is Second Life?

It's a virtual 3D world on the internet with over 13million subscribers worldwide, where people create "avatars" (characters) and meet, socialize and do business inside an ever-expanding virtual world. Many real life companies (Sony, Toyota, BMW, Reuters to name a few) have a Second Life presence and it's a fresh and exciting marketing and advertising environment, where you can reach new customers in a radical, cutting edge, and original way.

We have created an island in this world where businesses from all around the world can meet new and existing customers, advertise and display their products, launch products, hold meetings or just socialize with their business partners.

We will help you enter this new and exciting world, and create a booth within our Exhibition Hall to display your products and services.

From this booth, customers can link directly to your homepage, email you or talk "face to face", "avatar to avatar" in the virtual world, by typing or using microphones like a 3D conference call.

In addition to the exhibition hall we also have a b2b service online, where you can enter your company and product details into our search engine so visitors to our site can find out about you and your products.

If you are interested or would like more details, please email me at info@globalinkjapan.com or visit our website at www.globalinkjapan.com (the website is in English, Japanese and Chinese).

Thank you for your time
